World Meningitis Day 2018

The Confederation of Meningitis Organisations
Through telling patient stories, raising awareness of the signs and symptoms of meningitis and increasing knowledge of available vaccines, World Meningitis Day raises the global profile of meningitis and shares potentially life-saving information with thousands of people worldwide.

This year’s theme, #AllMeningitisMatters, highlighted that there are 4 different types of meningitis, and that while multiple vaccines are needed, not all types and strains of meningitis are vaccine preventable.

We created materials to support our campaign and based our activities around 4 Key Messages:

1. Meningitis is a potentially deadly disease that can kill within 24 hours.
2. Bacterial meningitis can be caused by many different types of bacteria.
3. There are safe & effective vaccines that protect against the most common causes of bacterial & viral meningitis.
4. Not all strains of meningitis are vaccine preventable, so being able to recognise the symptoms is crucial.
